

THE SANDWICH ALIGNMENT CHART

	INGREDIENT PURIST (Must have classic sandwich toppings: meat, cheese, lettuce, condiments, etc.)	INGREDIENT NEUTRAL (Can contain a broader scope of savoury ingredients)	INGREDIENT REBEL (Can contain literally any food products sandwiched together)
STRUCTURE PURIST (A sandwich must have a classic sandwich shape: two pieces of bread/baked product, with toppings in between)	HARDLINE TRADITIONALISTS  "A BLT is a sandwich."	STRUCTURAL PURIST, INGREDIENT NEUTRAL  "A chip butty is a sandwich."	STRUCTURAL PURIST, INGREDIENT REBEL  "Ice cream between waffles is a sandwich."
STRUCTURE NEUTRAL (The container must be on either side of the toppings, but not necessarily two separate pieces)	STRUCTURAL NEUTRAL, INGREDIENT PURIST  "A sub is a sandwich."	TRUE NEUTRAL  "A hot dog is a sandwich."	STRUCTURAL NEUTRAL, INGREDIENT REBEL  "An ice cream taco is a sandwich."
STRUCTURE REBEL (Can contain any food enveloped in any way by a containing food)	STRUCTURAL REBEL, INGREDIENT PURIST  "A chicken wrap is a sandwich."	STRUCTURAL REBEL, INGREDIENT NEUTRAL  "A burrito is a sandwich."	RADICAL SANDWICH ANARCHY  "A Pop-Tart is a sandwich."

The Sandwich Alignment Chart

tried to bring order